Dedicated to Grassroots Democracy

Aloha Neighbors,

I grew up on Hawai'i Island, moved to O'ahu for college, and have been a resident of beautiful Palōlō Valley since 2003. I was honored to be a Kucinich delegate to the 2004 National Democratic Convention in Boston. As I listened to Barack Obama's speech, I thought "this man will be president one day." I had no idea that day could come so soon.

We have an incredible opportunity to engage the energies of the thousands of new members that joined to participate in the February precinct caucuses. With our help, these new voices will strengthen and grow the Democratic Party of Hawai'i. I want to be a part of that movement.

Mahalo for your vote!
